THE STATE PRESS.

Some of our Populist friends, are rejoicing very jubilant over the outcome of the fusion movement at Colorado Springs, and feel that they have been forced to give up the battle. The Populists were offered just what the Denver press and their wing of the Silver Republican party saw fit to give them, and after the elections were forced to accept it. It is no trouble to the Democratic action among the Populists, many of whom are Democrats. They openly denounce Thomas, but had no other alternative. The Populist support of the ticket, Thomas, will not be bordered by the great enthusiasm. (San Juan Prosecutor.)

Some of our Populist friends are not being very jubilant over the outcome of the fusion movement at Colorado Springs. They say they have been forced to swallow very hard. They say that they were offered just what the Democrats and Teller wing of the Silver Republican Party saw fit to give them, and after they had accepted, they found it was no trouble to him. I saw a letter among the Populists, many of whom are exceedingly sore. They openly denounce Thomas, but had to swallow the deal already made. ## AS TO DISARMAMENT

Newspapers arriving in the late foreign mails disclose a unanimity of opinion in the attitude of the European powers to the czar's disarmament proposition. The journals of all nations appear to have reached the conclusion that Russia's scheme is most commendable and should be carried out at once. But there is a conspicuous lack of readiness to take the initiative in the matter, and each one of the powers evidently wants the other fellows to go ahead immediately.

Germany, through her official press, declares that the emperor is in full accord with the proposal, and even goes so far as to hint that it may develop that the German emperor originated it. It is pointed out that the German army is merely a defensive one, only maintained at its present size to resist possible encroachments from other powers, and practically acting as a guarantee of peace in Europe. Entitled to More Strength.
In his last weekly letter Mr. Frank H. Pettungell says:
"Beyond question the mining stock-market should be entitled to more strength."

The present decline is quite unexpected, but in a way it can be accounted for. The majority of speculators are more or less "blind thinking," and it can be justly stated that the intrinsic conditions are decidedly at variance with the market quotations. Too much disregard is shown for business principles, for when applied to mining stock speculation, phenomenal profits invariably result. Just because stocks tightly decline, from sales of impecunious holders, is no sign that they will remain so permanently. The fact that stocks are slightly lower should be an at-

These low prices will convert sellers into buyers. The enormous production of Apple Creek for the month of September, the greatest in its history, should cause sellers to waiver. Dividend payers are improving their records: this in itself

Self-insurance should inspire confidence. The dividend-paying list is far from complete, and there will be in the next 12 months many unexpected additions to it. There will also be many localities in the Cripple Creek district thus far unnoticed, so far as production is concerned, which will come into prominence, and discoveries will be made which will respect comparables at present practically unknown.

and circumstances are such that a general break below present prices is very improbable.

Salt Lake Market.
Writing of the Salt Lake market, Mr. James A. Pollack says:

The Utah mining share market grows broader as each week passes. The sentiment is becoming stronger that this market is an excellent one from an operator's standpoint, and the high interest returns continue to invite investment capital. Admitting that investments in mining stocks

29% are of a speculative character, yet with-

Mining stocks that give returns of 20 per
